

Self-Directed Opportunities

We understand that each of our volunteers have very unique, and often busy lives. We have heard your requests, so we will be offering more self-directed continuing education opportunities. As you see below, you can choose any book from the recommended book list, watch the listed movie, or watch the YouTube video.

After you complete any of the offered training options, you will need to complete a Survey Monkey survey, or request a paper survey, to get the credit for completing the training. We ask that you do not duplicate a training you have previously completed because you cannot get credit twice for the same material.
