

Your Dollars at Work:

What Your Gift Does for Patients and the Community

Just as patients and families look to Hospice of the Western Reserve for compassionate care and support during the most difficult times, we rely on charitable donations to help meet individual and community needs.

As a donor, your support will help us offer the care and resources that truly make a difference – more physicians on staff than any other hospice in the region; three hospice houses that truly feel like home; therapeutic gardens; the best pediatric palliative and hospice care program in Ohio – all possible only because we receive generous community support.

Every donation we receive supports our ability to better care for you – our neighbors, friends and families.
